Canadians Gained Five Points in Last Week's Road Tour; but Lost to Drumheller 8-5 on Wednesday Night

Defeated Edmonton 8-3; Drew With Olds 3-3; Defeated Oliers 5-3. A battling band of Coleman pucksters have made the rest of the senior hockey league sit up and take notice this week as Canadians strive for fourth place play-off berth, at present held by Olds Elks with a one-point margin.

On the road trip last week end, Canadians trounced Edmonton Eskimos 8-3 to practically eliminate the northbounders from further interest in the play-offs. Provincial team had been in touch with McMillipod had had a field day, sniping four goals to lead his team to victory. It is reported by Fred Aboumous, who managed the team, that the trip had all played hand in win and deserved a good margin of credit.

Remarkably the Elks skated on the ice with the impression that Canadians had come to be beat and that a few hefty bounces would slow them down for the kill. In this they were entirely in error, as Canadians set a hot pace from the start, and maintained it throughout. Redskins put Canadians in the lead after 1-1 but had Olds tie it up. Final score was 8-3. To have Canadians hold the Elks on even terms is a tribute to their amazing skill, and one consideration that Lethbridge, Turner Valley and Drumheller have been taken to the cleaners by the Elks.

At home against Turner Valley on Tuesday, Canadians came from be-

JUVENILES ADVANCE TO SECOND ROUND PROVINCIAL PLAY-OFFS

Trouncing their Bellevue opponents at the local arena on Saturday evening 8-2, Coleman juveniles advanced to the second round of the provincial play-offs. The first game ended in a 4-4 tie at Bellevue on Thursday evening, Coleman winning the round 12-6.

The locals took a 2-0 lead in the first period, increased it to 5-0 in the second, and won out 8-2 in the third. They were much too powerful for their opponents; their faster skating, better stickhandling and passing plays keeping them well ahead of the Bellevue youngsters.

Their second-round opponents have not yet been named, according to Manager Ray Spillers.

JUNIORS ADVANCE IN PROVINCIAL HOCKEY PLAY-OFFS

A 3-0 shut-out over Blainmore junior team at the arena on Saturday evening gave the local juniors an 11-7 decision over their opponents to advance into the second round of the provincial junior hockey play-offs. Blainmore had won the first game 7-5 at Blainmore on Thursday evening.

The locals failed to score in the first period on Sunday evening, Coleman taking the game in hand in the second, when they scored twice. The third goal came in the third period, which proved the final marker of the two-game total-goal series, and opened the door into the second round of the provincial play-offs.

Blairmore Columbus Club Commanded for Dramatic Play

Club Under Father Harrington Occupies Important Place in Community Life of Neighboring Town.

In the two-day dramatic festival in Calgary last week, staged by the Young People's Club of Young Socialites, Blairmore Columbus Club presented "Sunshine Lady," a cast consisting of Anne Kubic, Ricca Fumagalli, Lawrence Schlosser and Andrew Hinchliffe.

Miss Betty Mitchell, adjudicator, who has adjudicated plays in the western provinces and at Banff school of dramatics, in praising the young people for their acting, gave special credit to Anne Kubic, of the Blairmore club.

The Columbus Club, under the supervision of Dean Harrington, parish priest, has an outstanding achievement to its credit in purchasing the former opera house, which is almost intact. It is now used as a community centre.

Self-Sacrificing Work of Local Minister and Assistant Noted in Financial Report.

The first annual meeting of the Church of the Nazarene was held Monday night at the parsonage, with District Superintendent D. Sward in the chair.

Very fine reports were given from all the departments, and a new member was elected for the year, which begins in first of April.

A total of $693.25 was raised for all purposes to date. Salary received by pastor for the year was $2,000 and salary for assistant $2,000. Fifty dollars were given for general budget, which goes toward work in the foreign fields. Fifteen dollars has been sent away for the district funds.

The Sunday school reported a fine increase in enrollment, and the church since the organization in May.

We are truly thankful to God for helping us in this baby church, with nine members. All bills paid to date. No deficit.

All members of Protestant churches in the town will be invited to the service, the day will be observed.

Other organizations have been asked to take part in the service. Among those expected to take part, besides the ladies of the United church, are representatives of St. Alban's, the Salvation Army and the Nazarene church.

PEEWEE HOCKEY RESULTS

Three games were played on Sunday afternoon before a large number of fans. Results were: Slovaks 6, Patagonians 0; Slovaks 4, Italians 1; Elks 10, Polish 0.

Shamrocks still retain their two-point lead over the Elks in the league standing.

COLEMAN MAN FREED ON ALLEGED THEFT CHARGE

Lawyer, G. C. 21 years ago, was before Judge McDonald in District Court at Blainmore on Tuesday, on a charge of having in his possession stolen property, from the store of Charles Nicholas, was dismissed.

His preliminary trial in Coleman during January before Magistrate Gresham resulted in his remand to a higher court. He elected for a speedy trial instead of a jury trial at Macleod, and on Feb. 12, before Justice of the Peace John Fawcett, Macleod barrister, and R. F. Barnes, came the prosecution.

OLDS' ELS' HOCKEY STICKS RECOVERED

Nine hockey sticks were missing from the Elks' bus in Coleman on Feb. 10, when they came to play a scheduled senior league hockey game with Canadians. Fortunately, the sticks were found by a firm engaged in repairing sticks, and it was an easy matter to watch for the reappearance of the sticks.

John Nikut, night policeman, was the man rewarded when he found the missing sticks in the possession of a young Coleman boy. Local police are awaiting instructions from officials of the Red Line Buses, from whose bus the sticks were taken, regarding prosecuting the boy.

A good citizen is a man who spends his money in his own town and sees the profit stays there.

First Meeting 1939 Council Held on Monday Evening

Councillors Balloch and Kerr Sworn in; Committees Appointed; Sale of Lot Sanctioned.

An organization meeting was held in the council chamber on Monday evening by the council, following the recent municipal elections, which saw two new councillors come into office. Present were Mayor Pattinson, Councillors White, Antrobus, Balloch and Kerr. Absent, Councillors Chapman and Atkinson.

A list of committees placed before the meeting by the mayor was accepted with one minor change, when Councillor White said that he expected Chapman to be appointed chairman of the light and water committee in place of himself. Councillor Chapman was appointed chairman of that committee. Following was the list of committees for the year, as well as the deputy mayors:

Works and property: Antrobus, Kerr and White; light and water: Chapman, Atkinson and White; finance: Balloch, Chapman, Atkinson, health and welfare: Chapman and White; license and police: Antrobus, Balloch and Kerr; building: Kerr, Atkinson and Antrobus; parks: Chapman, Atkinson, Antrobus and Kerr. The first name in each committee is the chairman of that committee. Each member is represented on four committees.

Deputy mayors: February, March and April, Kerr and White; May, June, July, Councillor Chapman; August, September and October, Councillor Atkinson; November, December and January, Councillor Atkinson.

Two hundred and fifteen rifles, collected from Coleman people following the mysterious shooting and death of Bobby Glendenning in the late evening of an early May day last year, have been returned to their owners after being subjected to searching tests by a ballistics expert of the R.C.M.P. from Regina headquarters with the assistance of Constable W. T. Balloch, Kerr and White.

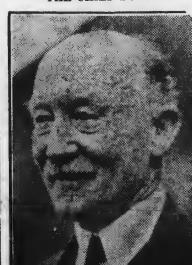

A letter was received from Coleman Miner's Association, bringing to the council's notice the dumping of refuse by the McGillivray Co. on the mountain side alongside the creek which runs into the dam in which Coleman's water supply is stored. It is the opinion of the men that the spring snow and rains would drain through the refuse and run into the creek, contaminating the water. The mayor, light and water committee and the health officer, Dr. Rose, will investigate immediately.

A letter was received from Sgt. J. A. Cawsey, R.C.M.P. detachment, Blairmore, acknowledging the council's letter, thanking the force for their close co-operation with the town police.

An application was received from Norman E. MacAlay, offering $200 for a lot located on the M. C. P. S. P. property in the town of Blainmore. The offer was accepted on a written contract, with the rider that Mr. MacAlay be assessed the 1939 taxes on the said property.

An offer from Mike Belakay, to purchase a lot in West Coleman, which had been offered by Wm. Steeves since 1932, was also discussed. It was decided to offer him the lot and building for $200, plus the 1939 taxes.

Trustees Advised of Basis of Assessment for Schools Taxes

To be Based on Town Council's Assessment Now a Force Provides for Business Tax.

The school trustees recently received a letter from the Department of Education, Edmonton, with a copy of "The Assessment Act," whereby the 1939 assessment for school purposes is to be based on the assessment in force for town purposes.

It is also noted that under the Assessment Act, "the council of every town, village or municipal district and the Board of every school district may pass a by-law providing for the assessment of any trade, business or profession carried on within its area, to be known as a business tax."

The letter states that in 1939 and future years the school district will not make an assessment as such. The secretary will simply carry into the tax roll the assessed valuations as recorded on the assessment roll of the town council.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES COMMITTEES ORGANIZED

An organization meeting of Coleman School Board was held in the school room on Monday evening. Present Trustees Fraser, Sharp, Chamberlain, Glendenning. Absent Trustee Fleming.

Trustee Fraser was re-appointed chairman. Committee: Works and property, Trustee Sharp and Fleming; management, Trustee Fraser, Glendenning and Chamberlain.

ALEX EASTON REMEMBERS EARLY RESIDENT

Since publishing the report of the death of H. W. F. Pollok in The Journal, Alex Easton stated that Mr. Pollok and a partner named Martin established the Crow's Nest Jobbing Co., with branches at Coleman and Blainmore, in 1908. Mr. Easton worked for them for a number of years, and later became a postman.

It will be remembered that the deceased was repairing a second-hand automobile purchased for fishing trips. At the rear of his home, with Jenkins (a neighbor) and Mr. Glendenning, the three were around the car, the father at the front and the others at the rear. The time was a few minutes before 9 p.m., in full daylight. Suddenly Glendenning stumbled; at the same instant the ping of a bullet was heard. He died shortly after. The most searching enquiry failed to give any clue, and an exhaustive examination of possible motives at the inquest left the death of Glendenning as mysterious as ever.

The Coleman juvenile hockey club, scheduled for Friday evening, had been postponed, due to the team having to travel to Macleod to play a scheduled game in the second round of the provincial play-offs. Further announcement next week.

BUTTERFLIES AND MOSQUITOES

Various newsworthy reports in the localities banded together committees. To "keep up with the Joneses" Coleman also reports having seen a butterfly in February. One of the children in Mrs. Clifford's room at Central school brought a beautiful yellow butterfly to show the class.

Science And Agriculture

Perhaps never in the history of Western Canada has what is currently designated the agricultural problem received so much attention as it is doing at the present time, but the problem of enabling the farmer to reap a margin of profit on his operations, and even sufficient to cover the cost of production and marketing has not yet been solved.

To a greater or less degree the problem is one that is vexing the whole world, for the agricultural industry is in the doldrums in almost every country on the globe, but due to the character of the industry in Western Canada where the farmer must sell his major product in a highly competitive market and buy the implements of production and necessities of life in a protected industrial sphere the problem is more acute here than anywhere and this differential has been accentuated in recent years by the vagaries of climatic conditions.

It is not, therefore, surprising to find that the question is uppermost in the minds of all men in the west; that it is receiving foremost attention whenever and wherever men congregate in convention; that the question is being ventilated with greater frequency than any other in the legislative assemblies of the country; that discussion on it and many phases of it occupies much space in the newspapers, farm magazines and other publications, and it is the subject of inquiry by innumerable organizations and commissions.

With all this discussion going on, on a subject which everyone recognizes as the most vital one in Western Canadian history, it seems a reasonable assumption that if there is a solution, and there must be one if this country is to prosper and have an assured future, it will be found.

As has been suggested before, innumerable proposals have been made as a solution to this great problem. They include among others; international agreements between the great wheat producing countries; national action in the form of subsidization of the agricultural industry by the country as a whole, a method which is now being given a trial with as yet undetermined results; the discovery of new markets; the expansion of existing markets; the stimulation of the home market in the direction of increased consumption; greater diversification of agricultural practice; the conversion of agricultural production to industrial use.

In Several Directions

Whole volumes might be written on all these proposals, all of which have some merits and some defects, but space and time forbid. All of these and other plans for the rehabilitation of western agriculture are being heard by the group headed by Premier Bracken of Manitoba which is now making a comprehensive survey of the whole question in the hope of finding the answer to the riddle.

Such a survey has been requested before, however, it is probable that the ultimate solution of this enormous problem does not lie wholly in any one of these orbits, but most likely is a combination of many or all of them, and there are some indications that readjustment is actually taking place, painful and lengthy though the process may be.

It has undoubtedly occurred to many who have given serious thought and study to this problem that at least a partial and a happy solution might be found in some course which would result in a closer relationship between agriculture and the manufacturing industries, for to the extent which these two branches of industrial life can be made dependent upon one another, to that extent will both be benefited and the solution of the problems of both be closer to solution.

A Closer Tie-Up

That already something is being done along these lines as the result of research work and the practical application of laboratory findings was indicated in a recent contribution in the House of Commons by W. G. Weir, Liberal member for MacDonald, who described some of the things science is doing to bring industry and agriculture together in the United States, when he pointed out that Henry Ford is using in his factories annually 60,000,000 pounds of cotton, 400,000 bushels of corn, 2,300,000 gallons of molasses, 3,200,000 pounds of wool 1,300,000 square feet of lumber, 350,000 pounds of mohair and an unlimited supply of soya beans.

Mr. MacDonald stated that three products have been developed from oats and barley sold in the United States—a fine oat flour with peculiar preserving qualities, which is competing annually for a share of the $200,000,000 spent yearly in the U.S. for cosmetics and furfural, which when mixed with a bituminous binder and Tart, is being used to make satisfactory market roads at a cost of $2.50 a mile.

"Alcohol," said Mr. MacDonald, "is now successfully made from corn, sorghum, barley, rye, wheat, and potatoes. Gasoline carrying ten per cent. of this type of alcohol is now being sold in 2,000 U.S. filling stations at prices competitive with gasoline," and quoted an authority for the statement that "within ten years the U.S. will be using 20 per cent. of such grain alcohol blended with gasoline for motor cars, and that within 20 years this industry will be producing 50 million gallons of 'agriculture' at a selling price of between 15 and 30 cents per gallon with handsome profits."

Mr. MacDonald made his citation in support of a plea for the expenditure of further energy and money for research work, a plea which should not go unheeded in the light of results that have been achieved on the other side of the international boundary and the necessity of applying science to the peculiar problems of Western Canadian agriculture.

A Story In Stone

To Preserve The Badlands of Western South Dakota

One of the most fascinating areas on this continent, barring not even the mammoth Grand Canyon in Colorado, is the area known as the White Pine Badlands of western South Dakota. It is an area well known to Canadian tourists, and thousands of whom have marvelled at the story of those stone formations. Therefore Canadians, along with many Americans, will rejoice to know that President Roosevelt has just signed an executive order creating the Badlands National Monument, which brings 150,103 acres of that area within the orbit of the United States Park System. From frontier territory to recreational territory—that is the progression.

But the Dakota Badlands have had a much longer history than that. They belong to the oldest mountain formations in the world. They were laid down soon after the subsiding of the vast Cretaceous sea, when Time was very young indeed, and before the Alps and even the Himalayas had reared their peaks. Erosion etched them. Saber-toothed tigers, giraffes, rhinos, ordeons, three-toed horses, camels and those and more once roamed its lush valleys and lurked in its winding canyons. But the wide waters altered the Badlands and domes and gorges, and those prehistoric animals made way for the buffalo and antelope and mountain lion, and those later beasts in turn made way for the lowly jack rabbit and slimking coyote and pert prairie dog. Time marched on. But the stones recorded all those stages of the Badlands, and students have visited them for nearly a hundred years (the first expedition was in 1846) to read the story.

This new move, to preserve the Badlands as a national monument, is therefore sure to win wide approval. Accessibility, certainty of care and agricultural exploitation, should add many more pages to Earth's history. And another recreational center will be welcomed by tourism.—Winnipeg Free Press.

According to Survey

Women Are Less Likely To Contract Pneumonia Than Men

Men are more apt to contract pneumonia than women.

This conclusion was reported by the United States Public Health Service on the basis of a survey presented in 1937. The survey disclosed, the health service said, that the rate among males was six per 1,000 persons and among females 4.9.

No conclusion was reached as to why men are more susceptible.

The report also said it was found that pneumonia strikes with greatest frequency in the lower income groups.

"The pneumonia case rate among relief families was over twice the rate that of among families in the upper income groups," the report said. "There was also an excess in the rates among families who were not on relief, but whose incomes were less than $125 a month."

According to the Manchester Guardian royalty in general has never cared for the long sermon. Queen Victoria is a case in point. Many a preacher must have eyed that glass with considerable nervousness in the course of his sermon.

Butter Consumption

Consumption of butter in Empire countries is higher per head of population than in foreign countries, states the Imperial Economic Committee. It amounted in 1937 to 40.7 pounds in Australia; 32.7 pounds in Canada; and 24.8 pounds in the United Kingdom, compared with 19.6 pounds in Germany; 17.9 pounds in Denmark and Belgium, and 16.7 pounds in the United States.

England's Highest Honor

Bronte Sisters May Be Commemorated in Westminster Abbey

The Buffalo Courier-Express says that the Bronte sisters will not be given a place in Westminster Abbey, but to action writers in the English language and to women in general by the proposed commemoration of the Bronte sisters in Westminster Abbey, England's highest honor.

Emily, Charlotte and Anne Bronte may be given a place in England but to every person anywhere in the world who can read a book in English, Jane Eyre is one of the great novels, read and beloved by millions in generation after generation; Wuthering Heights, which long was overshadowed by Jane Eyre, has grown in favor during the last few decades, librarians say, and may one day assume stature equal to the more famous book in the affection of booklovers. Both books have been made familiar to the public of stage and screen, and the Bronte sisters themselves have been fascinating subjects for biographers, novelists and playwrights.

Many novelists, renowned in their day and perhaps a few years after, are forgotten. Few who read to-day bother to wade through Trollope or Reade or Hardy or Meredith, but the Brontes are as alive as ever. It is surprising that Westminster Abbey waited for them so long.

To Stock Marshes With Beaver And Muskrat

Beaver will be turned upon in the next few years to do a job cut too big for man and science. Col. T. C. Newcomen, game bird and conservation society, declared in an address at Edmonton.

The job, he said, will be restoration of water-levels in lakes and marshes in northern Alberta and Saskatchewan. Three large areas in northeastern Alberta already have been set aside for such work through an arrangement with the Alberta government, he said.

Beaver and possibly muskrats will be stocked at the bottle necks leading from the marshes and lakes to the larger rivers. Col. Newcomen expected supervised trapping in areas would be permitted after five years Indians and half-breeds now inhabiting the areas will be employed as paid game guardians, he said.

Loyal Troops Defeat Plot To Overthrow Government In Peru

Lima, Peru.—General Antonio Rodriguez, taking advantage of the absence of President Oscar Benavides, seized the government palace Sunday in an attempted overthrow of the government, and was killed.

General Rodriguez, minister of government and interior since 1935, escorted the president to the pier at Callao, Lima's port, Saturday night when Benavides and a party of government ministers boarded a naval transport, Rimac, for a three-day holiday.

He embraced the president, expressed wishes he would have a happy holiday, and bade him farewell.

After seizing the palace, Rodriguez proclaimed himself head of the government and issued two manifestos, one addressed to the nation, and the other to the armed forces, in which he explained his far-reaching measures to replace the Benavides administration.

"Just a few moments have been sufficient for the failure of this unconceivable attempt," Premier Montagne said in a formal statement. The premier heads the government in the president's absence.

"A normal situation has been restored and order prevails in this capital and country-side," the premier continued.

"When the revolt was thwarted General Rodriguez and some few insurgents lost their lives."

The city, unsuspecting what was going on at the palace, was spending the night in celebrating a carnival.

Premier Montagne's communiqué said Rodriguez had only a few followers from his own department of the government and that loyal troops intervened and restored order.

U.S. Government Is Trying To Save The Trumpeter Swan

Detroit.—In the wild Red Rock lakes section of south-central Montana the United States government is fighting a last-ditch battle to save the trumpeter swan.

To-day they huddled in the Red Rock lakes refuge, seldom moving, staving off what A. V. Hull of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey calls "the advance of civilization."

Troops For Libya

Italy Is Sending Reinforcements To North Africa

London.—Officials disclosed that Great Britain had sought and received confirmation that Italy again is sending reinforcements to Libya, increasing the government's Mediterranean worries at a critical stage in the Spanish war.

Under the Anglo-Italian accord which went into effect Nov. 16, Italy reduced by half her strength in Libya, which faces French Tunisia, a object of Fascist expansion clamer.

Officials said the Earl of Perth, British ambassador at Rome, had been told by the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, that additional Italian troops were being sent to Libya because of "information received" that French forces in Tunisia had been increased. Count Ciano was said to have added that Italy will reduce her Libyan garrison when conditions are restored to normal.

Officials declined to disclose the number of Italians sent to North Africa, but reliable reports said forces there now numbered 60,000 against 30,000 maintained under the Anglo-Italian accord.

Nazis Collect

Second Installment Of Fine Against Jews Gathered In

Paris.—The Nazi government collected the second installment of a 1,000,000,000 mark ($400,000,000) fine against Jews and took steps to collect from the present owners of former Jewish properties a share of some "profits" realized in the transfer of such businesses. The fine is a penalty for the shooting of a German diplomat in Paris by a young Jew last November.

A decree was issued supplementing the Dec. 5, 1938, order for the "aryanization" of German economic life and providing of the "aryanization" profits to the German treasury, and in the case of real estate, up to 100 per cent.

In the "aryanization" process businesses, mostly Jews, on the basis of material wealth, with no value placed on goodwill or volume of turnover or activity, were recommended to parliament to strengthen the defences of French Indo-China against the possibility of either Japanese or Siamese attacks.

Deputy Edouard Bousquet, vice-chairman of the naval affairs committee, who spent three months recently investigating Indo-China, has said he considered seriously the possibility of Japanese and Siamese action against Indo-China which he declared was "isolated and with only a little chance of getting help from the mother country."

Draft Man Power

Gigantic National Construction Program In Germany

Berlin.—A new decree by Field Marshal Hermann Goering made it possible to draft any needed manpower for gigantic national construction jobs such as widening the Kiel canal and at the same time effectively closed a halt to employers coming to labor by offering higher wages.

Goering also ended the government's costly experiment of paying men drafted for unskilled ditch-digging the same wages they previously drew for their jobs as artisans or white collar workers.

Goering's decree, published on the same day plans for widening of the Kiel canal connecting the Baltic with the North Sea were announced, began with the significant words:

"The execution of unpunctual tasks having special significance for the policies of the state must not be endangered through lack of labor power. For the performance of such tasks the population must exist of drafting inhabitants of the Reich's territory for work and of making available to the armed workers to given place of work."

The new decree enables the government to draft men and women for indefinite periods.

Return Of Democracy

Dr. Benes Thinks Europe Will Give Up Totalitarianism

Chicago.—A resurgence of democracy in Europe was predicted by Dr. Edouard Benes, former president of Czechoslovakia, upon his arrival here to become visiting professor at the University of Chicago.

"I am confident that democracy will return to Europe," he said. "History shows that liberty and authoritarianism are in alternative epochs in Europe. The day will come when the democracies will stand firm."

The statesman was asked in an interview his opinion on the probable life of the present cycle of authoritarianism. He replied that some past cycles have lasted for a century.

"But," he added, "nations cannot live indefinitely in slavery."

Dr. Benes was told he was convinced that war in Europe can be avoided, but added: "I am not going to say that it will be avoided."

To Protect Indo-China

Suggestion Has Been Made To The French Government

Paris.—Strong forces of gunboats and seaplanes backed by coastal artillery batteries and fortified bases were recommended to parliament to strengthen the defences of French Indo-China against the possibility of either Japanese or Siamese attacks.

Deputy Edouard Bousquet, vice-chairman of the naval affairs committee, who spent three months recently investigating Indo-China, has said he considered seriously the possibility of Japanese and Siamese action against Indo-China which he declared was "isolated and with only a little chance of getting help from the mother country."

Ottawa.—The Bank of Canada announced on behalf of the minister of finance that tenders had been accepted for $25,000,000 Dominion of Canada treasury bills May 15, 1939. The average discount price of the accepted bids was $98,834 and the average yield was .681 per cent.

Stronger Position

Polish Writer Says Britain And France Would Win In Test Of Strength

Warsaw, Poland.—Great Britain and France are in a far stronger position with relation to Germany and Italy than would appear, and there is every reason to expect the "France-England-American triangle will prevail in a test of strength should one come," wrote General Wladyslaw Sikorski, former prime minister of Poland, in the Kurier Warszawski.

"If it is true that Gibraltar is present under the mouths of German guns and that Mallorca is being used as an air base and submarine base by the Italians, it is no less certain that nationalist Spain would be acting against its own interests if it allowed itself to be made into an instrument directed against France and Great Britain," wrote General Sikorski.

"The reconstruction of Spain imposes itself upon General Franco now with great acuteness. He can undertake nothing in this domain without the material aid of France and Great Britain."

Wheat Conference

Meeting To Be Held In Ottawa On February 28

Ottawa.—Members of the Dominion cabinet will meet spokesmen of the prairie market conference here Feb. 28 to discuss western agricultural problems, it was announced.

The meeting has been requested by a committee of the conference which met at Winnipeg in December at the call of Premier John Bracken of Manitoba.

Delegates of that committee will place before the government a program of aids for western agriculture drafted at a committee meeting in Saskatoon.

Plans World Tour

Victoria.—Dr. Arthur Foley Wintringham, Bishop of London, will visit British Columbia in September, Rt. Rev. Bishop H. E. Seton, Anglican Bishop of Columbia, announced. The noted English prelate retires at the end of July and will make a tour of the world. Bishop Seton said.

Madman Reported To Have Shot Guard At Villa Of Mussolini

Rome.—Authorities described as the irresponsible act of a madman the shooting of a Fascist militiaman in the neighborhood of Premier Mussolini's Villa Torlonia on the Via Montenaro.

The shooting, which might have passed as a police incident in another section of the city, led to divergent rumors since it occurred in the vicinity of the premier's home. Two communiques were issued on the incident.

"The mystery of popular culture" denied the news about an alleged attempt against the head of the government to be false," said the first. "The rumors arose out of an incident caused by a madman who fired the shots in the Via Montenaro."

The second communiqué said: "On Feb. 19, shortly after 2 p.m., in Via Montenaro, a militiaman in plain clothing noted an individual evidently out of his mind and behaving wildly, and approached him to calm him. The man suddenly fired at him with a revolver, wounding him in the abdomen."

The attacker, immediately arrested, was identified as a mechanic, Bruno Simoni, 38, son of Luigi Simoni, of San Giorgio De Piano (near Bologna), already released twice from an insane hospital—the first time at Naples and the second time at Rome. The last time he was dismissed from an insane asylum was during the past year."

The most persistent version of the several rumors was that a man loitering outside the villa was identified as a guard to a guard to identify himself, the report said. The man drew pistol from his trousers pocket, said "Take this to your master," and shot the guard in the groin.

Uniformed guards and detectives in plain clothe are constantly on duty a short distance from the park around the Villa Torlonia, which occupies an entire block-surrounded by a high stone wall. Closely spaced lamps along the wall flood the surrounding streets with brilliant light at night.

Seven attempts have been made against Mussolini's life since he became head of the Italian government in 1922.

The first of these occurred Nov. 4, 1925, when General Zaniboni, a crack shot, set up a rifle with telescopic sights opposite the Palazzo Chigi where Mussolini was to speak. Secret police discovered the plot just before Mussolini appeared and the general was sentenced to 30 years in the Penal Islands.

Violent Albion Gibson, an Irishwoman, fired at Mussolini during a ceremony April 7, 1925, at the capitol and the bullet chipped Il Duce's nose. She was deported to England.

The same year, on Sept. 11, Gino Lucetti, an anarchist, threw a bomb at Mussolini's car. Eight persons were injured but Il Duce was un-

New Wheat Marketing Policy Would Change The Present System

Ottawa.—Outlines of a complete recommendations of the Turgeon commission, which were:

"1. That the government should remain out of the grain trade and our wheat should be marketed by means of the futures market system. "2. That the grain exchange should be placed under proper supervision. "3. That encouragement be given to the creation of co-operative marketing associations or pools."

"In addition to this, we intend to introduce a bill to deal with emergencies which we hope will make home building on the prairies more secure. This bill will be drafted on the principle that assistance will be given in proportion to need, and calculated on an acreage basis and so adjusted as to encourage home building and maintenance rather than acreage production."

"In drafting the legislation for the promotion of co-operatives we will be mindful of the fact that the same principle might be applied to the marketing of other natural products," Mr. Gardner continued.

"We cannot agree that the present legislation does not offer a solution for our marketing problems," the minister said, "and does not provide means of dealing equitably with the difficulties which stand in the way of home building on the prairies rather than increased wheat production."

"Realizing that the present legislation does not offer a solution for our marketing problems," the minister said, "and does not provide means of dealing equitably with the difficulties which stand in the way of home building on the prairies we intend to introduce legislation which will carry out as far as possible the

Dublin.—Eire could not remain neutral in a war between Great Britain and another state, Prime Minister Eamon de Valera said.

He said if war should break out, it would be essential to Eire's economy to continue to export cattle and other products to England. This, he added, would lead antagonistic states to regard Eire as a combatant and part of their campaign would be to prevent Irish food supplies from reaching England.

The statement came after several deputies had asked that the government quit bluffing and admit "Ireland's real defence is the British navy," during daily debate of new budget estimates for naval and air defence.

The dail approved the defence estimates by a vote of 62 to 36.

"We in Eire, if we had a united and free country," Mr. de Valera said, "would wish Eire to be very powerful, not for her own benefit, but because she could always be a good protection to us against any invasion."

The Irish people have not hated for the British people, but so long as any part of our territory is occupied we will always have that certain section wishing for the downfall of Britain, in the hope that her down fall would bring about a position in which we could regain our territory.

"In the event of a war, it is essen-tialized. Lucetti was sentenced to 30 years in the Penal Islands.

On Oct. 31, 1926, Mussolini's gold-encrusted sash of the Royal Order of Saints Maurice and Lazarus was severed by a bullet from the gun of 16-year-old Anteo Zamboni in Bologna. Zamboni was killed on the spot.

Michele Schirru, 32, a naturalized American of Italian birth, whipped out a pistol and wounded three policemen and himself while being questioned on Feb. 3, 1931, on suspicious activities. He was executed May 28, 1931, for plotting against the life of the premier.

Later in 1931, on June 4, Angelo Spadolotto was created in Piazza Venezia, Rome, with a charge of plotting to bomb or shoot Il Duce. He and an accomplice, Domenico Bovone, were executed 13 days later.

Giacomo Raggio was arrested in the Piazza Venezia on March 23, 1933. Disposition of his case was not publicly recorded.

British Armada

Ninety-Two Warships To Engage In Maneuvers At Gibraltar

London.—Ninety-two warships of the home and Mediterranean fleets of the royal navy were assembling at Gibraltar for manoeuvres in conjunction with the Mediterranean war games of some 20 French craft.

Diplomatic quarters said the combined naval forces would keep an eye out for any Italian moves against Tunisia and Corsica. French Mediterranean possessions, against which the Italian press and public have advanced claims.

The combination of the British home and Mediterranean fleets for manoeuvres on the eastern side of the Gibraltar gateway of the Mediterranean appeared to represent a new manifestation of the British policy of defence collaboration with France.

The spring manoeuvres of the British fleet were held on the Atlantic side of Gibraltar in the last two years.

Except for two battleships and four submarines from the French Atlantic fleet, France's manoeuvring ships were those of the Mediterranean fleet. They remained within easy sailing distance of Gibraltar, between that British base and Oran, Algeria.

These French exercises were expected to continue until March 18 while the bulk of the French Atlantic fleet is assembling at Brest. The admiralty said the British manoeuvres would continue to March 10, except for a three-day interval to be spent at Gibraltar.

Great Britain is considering establishment of an Empire army reserve in Palestine which could be available quickly in case of trouble in the Mediterranean area.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

KING GEORGE V., Britain's newest battleship, the first launched in fifteen years, reminds us forcibly that world peace is a long way off. The launching ceremony, held in Canada through the facilities of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, with its impressive service, and the brief remarks of King George VI, brings home the fact that however peace-loving a nation may be, the price of peace in a disturbed world is constant vigilance and the maintenance of excessive armaments, a continuance of which, as pointed out by Prime Minister Chamberlain, will eventually bankrupt the nations of the world. Britain tried to lead the way in disarmament, weakening her defences and leaving her vulnerable to aggressor nations, with the result that continental powers began to regard her as easy prey for bargaining and eventual conquest. On Great Britain and the United States falls the brunt of maintaining the ideals of Democracy, high though the price may be.

TREASURY branches cost $24,306 in nine months period, according to the figures contained in the interim financial report of the legislature. Deposits totalled $224,031. The report did not state if these were savings deposits or deposits on current accounts. No matter what they were, the cost amounts to nearly 11 per cent. of the amount deposited. If this is to be an indication of what the provincial government's costs will be as bankers, then Alberta is in for some more tax increases.

ACCORDING to information contained in a booklet issued by the government, people who deposit their cash in the credit house and take out non-transferable vouchers for the purchase of goods will be allowed 3 per cent. on total purchases if one third of the purchases consists of Alberta made goods or products. This would entitle all local people purchasing coal, for instance, 3 per cent. provided they put their money in the credit house. The same applies to butter, eggs, milk, and other things produced in Alberta.

ON the surface, it has a strong appeal. It is claimed it will help Alberta. But the point is, the government has not the money to pay this three per cent. If the credit houses continue to function, the three per cent. must necessarily come from the taxpayers. There is no other source, and under the present set-up the credit houses cannot earn sufficient money to pay this percentage. It matters not how optimistic one may be, cold facts have to be reckoned with when it comes to paying dividends or interest.

TAKE the proposed credit house to be opened in Blairmore. It will likely require at least two men to handle the business. Possibly an agent in each of the Pass towns. They will have to be paid salaries. In addition there is the 3 per cent. on Alberta products, and 2 or 2½ per cent. on savings accounts. Add what these various amounts are likely to cost, and you will find that the government is either going to pay the deficit out of taxpayers money, or has found some way of earning interest or in local dealings means much to dividends as yet undiscovered us and the town.

by the common people. It appears to be another of those plans adopted by the government without giving sufficient study to work it through to a logical conclusion. Nobody would object in the least if Premier Aberhart and his advisors were making the venture with their own capital, but when it comes to eventually levying the cost against the people in whose interests the premier says he is launching the plan, then we have a right to ask the government some pertinent questions on its banking methods. Already the taxpayers have put up $300,000 in paying for experiments, and in addition a considerable sum for which no purpose has been served, except to benefit government partisans. It is really time that some of the promised benefits of Social Credit for all the people were apparent.

FOR ten years Cameron McIntosh, M. P. for North Battleford, has urged the adoption by the Canadian government of a national flag for Canada. Each time the bill has been talked out or shelved, some members interpreting it as an indication of secession from the Empire. It is absurd to take such a view. Might as well say that because each province has a distinctive symbol or crest on its stationery, it is an indication of secession from Confederation. New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, have distinctive flags. Surely Canadians are proud enough of their nationality to have a flag in company with other countries of the Commonwealth of Nations. There are just as narrow views expressed in Ottawa on certain matters as in the backwoods.

THE Canadian Legion in several southern Alberta towns is organizing a plan whereby school children will be taken to Calgary on special trains to see the King and Queen in May. It is an opportunity of a lifetime for the younger children, and considering that we have many young people whose parents are of foreign birth, yet who are being assimilated as worthy Canadian citizens, the plan to take them to Calgary has much merit, for which the Legion should be commended.

That grand old hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past" used as a theme song not so long ago in Alberta is to be replaced by one similar to Sir Harry Lauder's "Keep Right on to the End of the Road," if Premier Aberhart's suggestion is acted on. We always felt it was extremely bad taste to use a sacred hymn for a political propaganda song. The latest proposal is in keeping with "Aberhartiana." But what is the end of the road to be? More taxes till we are "busted," or the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow?

COAL

Supplies the Remedy
to Balance Trade

The only Western product which could have been used during all these years to redress the unfavorable trade balance against the West, was coal. Throughout Canada there are coal supplies estimated at twelve-hundred-million-thousands of tons and estimated by Professor Stephen Leacock as sufficient to supply the Dominion for thirty-six thousand years. These are truly staggering figures, and many millions of tons more than those which have given Britain the prosperity she has enjoyed during the past hundred years.

Coleman Suburbs Important in Local Business

East Coleman Has About 125 Homes and Two Halls

About 1000 People Comprise Thrift Settlement of Industrial Workers and Families Live There.

Homes of many of Coleman's new Canadians are seen in the thickly settled suburb of the incorporated town, which has steadily grown in the past number of years, and now has houses equal to many of those in the incorporated area.

A few years ago, electric power lines were extended into the area, and the first cable car line, being extended, though nothing definite has so far been planned. Among the centres of activity there, possibly the most important is the Polish hall, which was built by the Polish migration over ten years ago, and where the Polish society holds many interesting gatherings to which the townspeople are invited.

Another hall is that of the Ukrainian Society, which has been established about an equal length of time.

Among the well-known residents of the district are the Tom Rypien family, the Hebergers, Michalskys, Sapetas, to mention just a few. Bill Ferby is the man who established the grocery business having been established by his father, who died some years ago. With his mother, Bill now carries on.

A later business to be established was that of Martin Haruk, who, with the help of the settlement, considered there was an opportunity to branch out.

Good gardens are cultivated there, as there is plenty of water available, the Crows Nest River flowing through the town.

The Journal would welcome items of interesting news from East Coleman, as it is a settlement worthy of weekly representation in the family newspaper—The Journal.

DIED IN COLEMAN HOSPITAL

The death occurred on Friday morning of Miss Michael, aged 16, at the Coleman municipal hospital. Deceased had been in ill-health for some time.

West Coleman Well Served by Cameron School

Part of Incorporated Area of Town of Coleman: Has Good Educational Facilities.

Some years after Coleman was incorporated, the area went beyond the "Buffalo" and electric light became extended. Being adjacent to the working of McGillivray mine, the town rapidly developed, until with increasing school population it became necessary to open a formal school, which was done about 1910. The late Alexander Cameron was the moving spirit in this enterprise, after whom the school is named.

The school staff includes Miss A. M. Margaret Dunlop, Miss Ethel Dunlop and Miss Laura Johnston.

Among the older residents is Sergeant Walter Bobbitt, whose store is well known; Steve Lesosky, L. Bubniak, George Kowalewski, Andrew Kowalewski, Tom Siska and others who have been active in the Czech-Slovak societies and have taken a keen interest in community affairs.

Walter Bobbitt was overseas with the C. E. B. and when Coleman should have decided to run a candidate for mayor, it is figured Walter would receive a big hand. However, at present he is not seeking municipal honor as his store keeps him well occupied. His genial hospitality is well known.

Other stores are those of Mssrs. Czerny & Zesula, owners of West End Meat Market, and J. W. Shields, who keep the people of West Coleman supplied with the finest quality in their respective lines.

Naval Base At Singapore Has Taken 15 Years To Build

The great naval base of Singapore, key of British Empire defenses, will be completed and ready to operate at full capacity this year.

The dockyard, most modern in the world, will be in a condition to maintain a full battle fleet. Every protective gun will be in position and the big air base besides the naval fortress will be in full commission, with a chain of outlying bases to guard the base.

Although no ceremony has been planned for the actual completion of the base, people of Singapore already are expressing the hope that the Duke and Duchess of Kent might pay a visit to Singapore on their way to Australia.

The base has taken fifteen years to build and will cost about $100,000,000. Naval works alone cost $75,000,000. The heaviest guns in existence, in well camouflaged emplacements, guard the base, and the anti-aircraft defenses are described as unparalleled.

Until now Britain could not have operated its heaviest units in Eastern waters because of the lack of a suitable base for maintenance.

Made Many Improvements

Vatican City Became Modern Under Reign of Pope Pius

Visitors to Vatican City soon discovered why Pope Pius gained the sobriquet of the "modern pope." It is written in steel and marble throughout the tiny state. During his reign Pius spent millions of lire in Vatican City improvements, mostly after settlement of the vexatious "Quoniam" question in 1929, which left him sovereign ruler of a definite temporal state.

The Vatican railroad and station and the broadcasting outfit are perhaps the best-known improvements abroad, and Vatican citizens are equally proud of the new palace of government and the modern electric plant.

But the real jewel in the eyes of the Vatican engineering staff is the 60,000,000-liter water system which transformed a 1,000-year-old layout of cement conduits into 100 kilometers of specially-treated acid-resistant pipe. It gave the Vatican gardens a lawn-sprinkling system.

The Vatican railroad station, built of travertine stone, stands near the great iron gate which opens automatically when a train approaches. For its size, it is the most sumptuous station in the world, with a frontage of 180 feet and a central hall 90 feet high. The railroad cost about $1,500,000.

World Seaplane Record

The Mercury May Make Aether Trip To America

"Mercury," upper component of the first Short-Mayor composite aircraft, and holder of the world seaplane distance record, and two long-range Albatross landplanes may supplement the fleet of four 24-ton flying boats which are scheduled for this year's experimental airmail services between London, Montreal and New York.

Since the "Mercury" surpassed the previous distance record by 800 miles with a journey of 6,045 miles from Dundee to the estuary of the Orange River, South Africa, she has done useful commercial work carrying mails between England and Egypt. Earlier in 1938 she accomplished a fast return trip over the Atlantic, going direct from the Foyne seaplane base in Ireland to Montreal and returning from New York in shorter stages over the southern route of the Azores and Lisbon. On her flight to Canada she carried considerable payload, thereby earning distinction as the first aeronaut to transport a cargo across the North Atlantic; her return stages were flown at speeds varying from 170 to 200 m.p.h.

The composite aircraft construction proved, therefore, that it enables a substantial payload to be carried across the ocean without extravagant expenditure in power but with an ample margin of range to ensure security.

Subsequently the "Mercury" has been launched with loads far exceeding the load airbone when she parted from her bearer "plane" ("Mala") at the start of the Atlantic crossing. In all likelihood she may cross the ocean next time with hundreds of pounds more in cargo than were transported on that first run.

Two de Havilland Albatross landplanes were built to air ministry experiments. Their specification called for carriage of 1,000 pounds in payload over a distance of 2,500 miles non-stop against a constant headwind. Averaging not less than 40 m.p.h. in practice the Albatross aircraft carriers can exceed this requirement, and attain it on 62 per cent of full power of the four Gipsy-Twelve engines at a cruising speed of 210 m.p.h. Calm air range is 3,300 miles.

Acrodromes at Ennis, on the River Shannon, and in Newfoundland are now nearly ready for use; they will be the ocean terminals of the Albatross flights.

Initially the experimental service will run once weekly between England and New York; before the end of the northern term this frequency will be doubled.

A Fine Review

Recent Issue Of Canada's Weekly Most Thoroughly Attractive

Canada's Weekly is a social and commercial paper published in Old London, edited by Sir Percy Hurd, M.P., which tells Canadians resident in the United Kingdom what Canadians are visiting there and where they may be found or written to; it gives a summary of Canadian news, and it contains an assortment of commercial information useful alike to British firms doing business with Canada and Canadian firms doing business with Great Britain.

The issue of January 20 which reached this country, is the annual financial and mining review, comprising over 100 pages, printed on most excellent paper and profusely illustrated with photographs and charts. It gives a survey of Canadian industries from coast to coast, province by province, and among the contributors are Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, Hon. I. A. Mackenzie, Minister of Defence, C. C. D. Howe, minister in charge of aviation, the presidents of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railroads and their presidents, Sir George G. Lawson, president of the Toronto Stock Exchange, addressed to British investors.

The issue is one of the finest reviews ever assembled in completeness and attractiveness, and in the hands of British people should be a valuable medium for the promotion of business and investments between the two countries.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

MR. CAFFEINE-NERVES fails to spoil Mary

by Ruth Comfort Mitchell

"Wild to pioneer, I was; sick a' Sunday school and sewing samplers, but my folks wouldn't stir. So I just up'n went! Tied up a few things and my Bible in my old plaid shawl and sneaked out after the folks was fast asleep, and walked the seven miles and crawled into one a' the covered wagons and played possum till he was well under way. There was a preacher among 'em, and the day I was fifteen he married me to Hanks Danna."

"But—Great-granny—wasn't that why you ran away? Why you went? Weren't you in love with Great-grandfather?"

The ancestress stared and shook her head. "Never laid eyes on him till I was a week or more on the way!"

Sally Ann laughed. "And all these years I've been nourished on that tender romance!"

"Guess some a' the grand-girls from the East made that up," the old woman said shrewdly.

"Really? Great-granny, I wonder if you'd give me a cup of tea?"

"Not this time a' day, I wouldn't," the old woman said firmly. "I never held with piecing between meals. But Lynn, he's got a lunch waiting for you upstairs, and I guess likely he's wondering where you are." She stepped quickly to the foot of the narrow, precipitous flight and called up: "Oh, come on! Comp'ny coming!"

"Fine!" came an answering masculine hail. "Yo-ho, Sally Ann! Send her up—fast!"

The returned traveller laughed aloud, gaily. "I'll see you again, Great-granny, darling. It's been so nice to—"

"Yes, I want to tell you about Sally Lynn, young Ed's girl. He married a smart woman from Detroit; toncy and determined. Well, she's a thin, dark, close-mouthed young-one, odder Adam's off ox. Minute I clapped eyes on her in the

"Of course! How are you, Jens?" The tall, stooped Swede was very well and hoped she was the same. He arranged the tray with heavy care and wentreaking away. "Oh, this is nice!" the traveller said contentedly. "Did Jens make these sandwiches? Fancy—with those sledge-hammer hands! But why the third cup?"

"Sarah Lynn. She's very keen to meet you here, rather than at home, or at Aunt Anna's."

Sally Ann's black brows lifted. "Must I unpack my first returning raptures with the Infant Class?"

"This child is rather special, enough like you to be, in kennel talk, your little sister."

"Ah! The dark one! Great-granny wants me to take ahead? 'Merry, I won't.' She took a second sand-which. "I haven't the faintest intention of weighing myself with tangling alliances. I'm utterly, comfortably selfish and intend to remain so. That's what keeps me young and spry," she told him cheerfully. "Duty doing Danas, I observe, wax portly."

The man in the wheel-chair laughed. "Isn't it astonishing how the dark legend persists?"

"Exactly. Though Cousin Adelaide—Sarah Lynn's mother—rose to battle with the foolish fable. She considers it a quaint and annoying tribal superstition. If Sarah Lynn is a mare peg, which she does not for a moment concede—she must and shall notwithstanding be smugly fitted into her mother's hands."

"And does she bring it off?"

He shook his head. "Sarah Lynn merely walks through her part, usually scowling. Cousin Adelaide gave her a large and heavy coming-out party, but she didn't emerge. Not fancy the idea is to get her married as expeditiously as possible and whisked away from the local landscape."

"Married? I thought she was a child."

"Nineteen. Her mother imported a pallid youth named Duncan Van Doren a couple of years ago—of her dearest friend in her native Detroit, who needed a milder climate, winters, and who match-makers busily but to no avail."

"An?" said his third cousin civily but without enthusiasm. "Lynn hasn't said whether you liked my 'Musical Miles'?"

"Enormously! I wrote you, but the letter evidently passed you at sea. Extraordinarily nice piece of work, Sally Ann. The Salzberg 'Festpiele' was a gem! You're having topnotch articles, aren't you?"

"Not bad. Someone's coming." A door had banged below.

"Come up, Sarah Lynn!" the man called.

But thundering steps took the stairs in bounds and a boy of seventeen burst into the room. He was fair and freckled, with a wide mouth and singularly innocent eyes.

"Bill!" Lynn Dana greeted him, surprised. "This is Sarah Lynn's brother, Sally Ann."

"How do you do, Bill? Will you have some tea?"

"Gosh, no," he said, shocked. "No, thanks, Uncle Lynn, I can't sit down. I got to beat it before Sarah Lynn gets here and don't peep to her that I came will you?" He turned to the woman with a vivid fusion of embarrassment and urgency. "Say,

"Exactly," he agreed. "And I'm hoping that she may just blow on and away, some day. It should be like that."

"I believe it will be. One can't conceive of helplessness and indigencies for her. I'm sure she'll just suddenly—and simply—stop."

She walked to the window and stood looking out, her back to him. "Gasping for your tea?" He rang. She turned toward him and he nodded approval. "You've pasted down the calendar, haven't you, Sally Ann?" He offered her a cigarette.

She shrugged, leaning nearer for a light. "Aunt Helena says I'm skin and bones."

"Nice skin and bones. The grandmas, as the matrachs call them, will thirst for your gore; a lot of too, sold fresh at Danavale. Thanks, Jens. Miss Dana will pour for me. You remember Jens, Sally Ann?"

MANY people can safely drink tea and coffee. Many others—and all children—should never drink them. If you are one of these try Postum's 30-day test. Buy Postum and drink it instead of tea and coffee for a month. Then, if you do not feel better, return the container top to General Foods, Limited, Cobourg, Ontario, and we'll gladly refund full purchase price, plus postage. Postum is delicious, economical, easy to prepare, and contains no caffeine.

CHAPTER II.

Sally Ann Dana got through the first difficult moments of her meeting with her third cousin by making persistent talk about the nonagenarian.

"But—she's priceless! Ninety-six—and so quick and keen and clear! She's like—what?—a crisp, brittle little old autumn leaf blowing along."

"Exactly," he agreed. "And I'm hoping that she may just blow on and away, some day. It should be like that."

"I believe it will be. One can't conceive of helplessness and indigencies for her. I'm sure she'll just suddenly—and simply—stop."

WHAT'S IN YOUR MILK?
CATTLE REQUIRE MINERAL FOODS, SAYS PETERSON

Calcium and Phosphorus Most Important Items, says Dr. McCollum.

Speaking before the Alberta Dairy Association, Professor Peterson stated that deficiencies of necessary minerals in cattle feed on the prairies constitute a real problem to dairymen. In order to get the proper proportion in milk he stated that it was necessary to feed the cattle such things as bone meal, oil meals and iodized salt in districts where the essential minerals were lacking in the natural feed.

In recent addresses in Winnipeg, Dr. E. V. McCollum, world famous nutritionist and discoverer of Vitamin A headed the list of the most important protective foods with milk. He stressed the value to human beings of the various minerals in milk.

Calcium is needed to build bones and teeth and to enable the blood to clot, thus preventing one from bleeding to death whenever a blood vessel is cut. The blood could not beat without the calcium in the fluids which bathe the heart muscles.

Phosphorus is needed to build up the nervous system.

Iodine is needed for the proper regulation of certain glands. For instance, insufficient iodine tends to develop what we know as goiter.

There are three Vitamins found in Milk: Vitamin A, essential to growth, maintenance of health, protection against certain infections, the prevention of infections of the nose, throat and chest, etc., by keeping the mucous surfaces healthy; Vitamin B2, which is important for nerves and good nerves; Vitamin D, is vital for the conservation of strong bones and teeth.

Protein is a very important food component of milk, and is often called the brick-builder of human bodies. It repairs old tissues and builds new ones.

All these things are found in milk in a more concentrated and digestible form than in any other food.
